WE DID IT. WITH YOUR HELP, FIVESCHOOL DISCIPLINE REFORM BILLS WERE SIGNED INTO LAW THIS YEAR!

Now the hard work begins! We need your help to make certain that school districts around the state change their local discipline policies to follow the law and educate everyone about the changes.

What does AB 1909 do and how does it help students?

AB 1909 creates new procedures that apply when foster youth become involved with school discipline.

1. When a foster child faces removal from school, the school district must notify the child’s attorney and child welfare agency representative. There are three situations in which the school district must notify a foster child’s attorney and a representative from the child welfare agency that the foster child might be removed from school. These notice requirements allow attorneys and social workers to better support and advocate for foster children who risk being pushed out of their schools.

   - First, a school must provide notice of the expulsion hearing whenever it recommends expulsion of a foster child if the decision to recommend expulsion is within the school’s discretion.\(^1\) The school district must provide the child’s attorney and child welfare agency representative with notice at least ten days before the expulsion hearing. Even in cases where an expulsion recommendation is required, the school district may notify the child’s attorney and child welfare representative.

   - Second, a school must provide notice when a foster child has been suspended and the school, in its discretion, wants to extend the suspension while waiting for the expulsion hearing and decision of the school board. The school cannot extend the suspension without first inviting the child and the child’s parent or guardian to a special meeting. AB 1909 now requires that a foster child’s attorney and child welfare representative also be invited to this meeting.

   - Third, there are special notice requirements for foster children who have special education needs under federal law. For these children, a school must provide notice whenever (1) the child does something for which the school could, within its discretion, recommend expelling the child, and (2) the school has proposed changing the child’s school placement because of the child’s behavior. Before changing the child’s placement, the school district must invite the child’s attorney and child welfare representative to a meeting to determine whether the child’s behavior was a manifestation of the child’s exceptional needs. If it was, then the school cannot go forward with the expulsion. Of course, even if the expulsion recommendation is required, the school district may invite the child’s social worker and attorney, something that would be helpful for the foster child!

\(^1\) Sometimes, the school is required by law to recommend a child for expulsion. If the law allows, but doesn’t require, an expulsion referral, then the expulsion referral is “discretionary.”
2. The person who holds education rights for a foster child should be notified of and invited to all discipline-related meetings for the child. Sometimes, an adult other than a parent or guardian is given the legal right to make education-related decisions for a child who is in foster care. AB 1909 makes clear that a child’s education rights holder should be notified of and invited to all discipline-related meetings. This ensures that the person empowered to make decisions about the child’s schooling is able to advocate for the child during disciplinary incidents and provide valuable information and support.

3. Attorneys for foster youth must provide their contact information to the school district (or local education agency) educational liaisons. Every school district must have a staff person designated as the “educational liaison” for foster children. AB 1909 creates a process for attorneys who work with foster children to provide their contact information to the educational liaisons who serve their foster children clients. This new process will facilitate better communication between schools and foster children’s attorneys and, hopefully, ensure that schools are more aware of the people in the foster child’s life who can help.

At the end of this fact sheet, you can find the exact text of AB 1909. The bill goes into effect on January 1, 2013!

How can you help make certain your school district follows the new law?

California law is clear: school board rules and policies governing discipline must be consistent with law, and parents have a right to be informed in advance about discipline rules and procedures. Educ. Code §§ 35291; 51101. When they develop new rules and procedures, schools must get input and participation from a parent representative. Educ. Code § 35291.5.

When the new law takes effect on January 1, 2013, you can help make certain your school district is following it by:

1. Requesting a copy of the district’s policies, rules, and procedure governing discipline.
   - Where can you find them?
     - Parent/student handbook
     - School district’s website

2. Checking: Do they include the new laws?

3. Advocating for the school district and your local school to change the policies and to educate all school personnel, parents, and students!

4. Meeting with the Superintendent (and/or principal) and request that your school board members hold a hearing on the changes and update discipline policies. Bring other parents, students and community members who care about fixing school discipline.

5. Spreading the word: Educate parents and students about these new laws.

6. Reporting any problems: If you see that students’ rights are being violated or a school district refuses to follow the law, go to FixSchoolDiscipline.org and click on “I Need Help” to report any problems you see.
What can I do to help?

- Request that a meeting be convened in your County between the County Office of Education, local school districts, the County child welfare agency, the organizations that represent foster youth, and the Juvenile Court so that best procedures and protocols can be put in place quickly to make certain that notice is provided, effectively, and by the least costly means possible and so that everyone can discuss the best way to help the foster youth who are struggling with school removal.

- Go to FixSchoolDiscipline.org to read the article about the process that Elk Grove Unified School District put in place, which also involves attorneys and social workers in any suspensions, and how they have reduced school removals for foster youth district-wide! Advocate for the leaders in your county to go beyond AB 1909’s explicit requirements and set up procedures to involve these key people when other disciplinary incidents threaten a foster youth’s educational outcomes or opportunities.

- Make sure that the school district has changed its policy to require that appropriate notice be given to foster children’s attorneys, child welfare representatives, and education rights holders when they are faced with discipline or a removal from school.

- Urge the district to adopt procedures to ensure that these notice requirements are tracked and followed.

- Advocate for the school districts and attorneys for foster children to come together to create the best process through which attorneys for foster children can share their contact information to the right people at the schools, to facilitate strong communication that will benefit the children.

So, what EXACTLY does the law say?
